UPDATE: Passenger in Route 100 collision dies

Howard County police are continuing to investigate a single-vehicle collision that occurred May 17 on Route 100 at Executive Park Drive in Ellicott City. The passenger, Nicole Marie Ashby, 31, of Hagerstown, has died as a result of her injuries.

At approximately 9:43 a.m., a Pontiac G5 was traveling westbound on Route 100 when it left the roadway for an unknown reason and rolled several times.

Ashby was initially transported to Howard County General Hospital before being transferred to the University of Maryland Shock Trauma Center where she was pronounced dead this morning.

The driver, Keith Charles Quigg, 31, of Hagerstown, was treated and released from Shock Trauma.

Preliminary investigation revealed neither was wearing a seatbelt. There were no other passengers in the vehicle; no other vehicles are believed to be involved. No charges have been filed at this time.

Route 100 westbound was closed between Route 108 and Executive Park Drive for approximately three hours as police investigated.
